4) Under the rules relating to the election of President & Vice-President, there is no rule similar to the one that exists in the case of election of members of the P.S. of Executive Council that the election is subject to approval of Govt or that the elected candidate can function in his duties as President only after he gets publish his name in the official gazette. But the practice has always been that the elected new President enters upon his duties only after his name is published by the Govt.

Dear Mr Narayana Rao,

I write to state that the election of a Non-official President to the Shimoga Town Municipal Council will be duly held on the 17th instant

In this connection, it is not clear from the rules in this respect, whether the result of the election should be - reported to Government for approval and for notification in the Gazette before the person elected assumes Office I feel, that it should, ~~secure that~~ Seeing That it is so, even as regards the election of a Vice President to the Town Municipal Council I believe also that the present Ex-officio President will continue as such till the elected Non-Official President is notified by Government in the Gazette and assumes charge of Office

I request however the favour of instructions in the matter

Thanking you,

Yours Sincerely,
Navaneetham
